A Message from the Editors

We've received lots of new information since the last edition and have done our best to fit everything in – if you spot any errors we apologise in advance but do please let us know!

An interesting question has been raised regarding historic editions of the Myddle Messenger or the Parish Magazine as it was previously known. It would be nice to know who has what so that we can build up an archive. Shropshire Archives have informed me that they already have some copies of the Myddle and Hadnall Parish Magazine and would be keen to extend their collection. Perhaps we can arrange a get together to bring along what we have and put it all in date order? I'm happy to set up a Whatsapp group chat (what, another one you say?!!) and arrange a meeting.

If anyone has anything of interest in this regard please let the editors know.

WI Day

Saturday the 14th September was WI day, celebrating Shropshire's WI groups and allowing all of the talented women to show off in the show competition. Harmer Hill and district were no exception and had an incredible day securing a total of six trophies! This year's theme was seasons and a group of ladies got together throughout the year to plan the show entries. On the day Harmer Hill and district entered all four of the cooperative classes and ended up with a fantastic first, second and third with one of our ladies winning best preserve in the whole competition. There were individual classes including savoury scones and a piece of artwork to name a few. The day itself was held in Shrewsbury abbey with each WI having a stall showcasing crafts they'd made for sale and giving an insight into what it would be like to join their group. Teas and cakes were available and they even ran out of coffee and walnut cake! It was a fantastic day to support the local WI's and Harmer Hill and district WI can't wait for next year.

From The Rectory

Harvest Festival

At the end of September and in early October we shall be celebrating harvest in our parishes. And yet in terms of a church service, harvest is a relative late-comer. You won't find harvest in the Book of Common Prayer.

Harvest thanksgiving gets a mention in Common Worship under the heading Local Celebrations: it reads "Harvest Thanksgiving may be celebrated on a Sunday and may replace the provision for that day, provided it does not supersede any Principal Feast or Festival" - so a pretty low key celebration.

And yet in recent times things have moved on again, I think probably as a result of our increasing awareness of our environment and the damage humanity is doing to our planet. The season of Creationtide has now been introduced into the church calendar which falls between 1st September and 4th October and is dedicated to God as Creator and Sustainer of all life.

And yet despite its later arrival and more minor place in the church calendar, harvest festival is one of the most popular church services often accompanied by a Harvest Supper or lunch. People who do not attend church regularly will come for harvest and bring their gifts either to decorate the church or for distribution to those in need.

Many today would be hard put to tell you how their food is produced and with the variety of food available all year round any sense of season has disappeared. And how many of us can really know that sense of gratitude that all be safely gathered in ere the winter storms begin, knowing that we won't go without whatever the weather?

So what is it about harvest that resonates with people today? We celebrate the gathering in of the harvest, however far it may be from our experience. We remember harvest festival services from our school assembly days, from the uniformed organisations church parades we may have experienced.

If we went to Sunday School, we remember taking something to church to be passed on to someone who was in need or would appreciate being remembered by the church. And today it's an opportunity to do some good in our community as we bring something for a food bank and express our gratitude for what we have in remembering those who have very little. But most importantly it's a time when we can come together from our very separate lives, when we can gather as the people of a particular place in a very special place – the churches in our community – where we can again feel that sense of belonging.

Mindful, therefore that "all good gifts around us are sent from heaven above. Then thank the Lord, O thank the Lord, for all his love".

Adam

Love in a box

If you've been collecting small treasures to go in a Christmas shoe box for a vulnerable Eastern European child or family, now is the time to think about packing your box. There's still time to find gifts if you haven't started yet.

Anyone can change a life by packing a shoe box for a boy or girl aged 3-5, 6-11 or 12+ years with ordinary gifts like toothbrush and paste, bar of soap and flannel, warm gloves, hat & scarf, soft toy, stationery and paper, ball, game that needs no instructions (such as dominoes or snap), puzzle, musical instrument, picture book, or sweets (use by date from June). These are all simple treasures that can be enjoyed whatever your language.

Find an empty medium-sized shoe box, decorate lid and box separately, (or get a flat-pack box from me), choose boy or girl and an age-range, stick a category label on the lid, pack your box with gifts, add transport costs (or pay online) and seal with an elastic band.

Or you may prefer to pack a 'home box' to be given to a mother with everyday household essentials like candles, tea towels, washing-up cloths, clothes pegs, hairbrush or soap.

The charity website www.teams4u.com gives all the information including helpful videos showing more ideas of what could be included in each category of box - @teams4Utube.

All boxes need to be delivered to the Rectory, Myddle by the end of October ready to take to the Teams4u Wrexham warehouse in early November for Christmas delivery.

Leaflets containing all details, category labels and envelopes for transport costs are in church. Please take one. If you've been sewing or knitting quality home-made gifts for shared boxes, please bring them to the Rectory as soon as possible to allow time for packing.

If you'd like a flat-pack box or have any other queries, please contact me on 01939 291390 or jothevicarswife@hotmail.com.

Thank you

HARMER HILL

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A friend of mine was telling me that she was selling her house. The Estate Agent had come round to value it and commented that the house would be easier to sell if she decluttered it.

This got me thinking about how often we used the word, “declutter”. The Estate Agent used it to suggest that my friend got rid of some of her belongings to make the house look more appealing.

I have heard people use the word “declutter” often. They must declutter their garage, their room, their office or their attic.

I got to thinking about what did I need to declutter?

Our house is fairly clutter free. Maybe our study needs some attention. Then I thought about myself and wondered if my life needed decluttering.

I hold on to anger, resentment, hurts and grudges. By holding onto these things, I don't give God much room in my heart. I now realize I needed to give all these things to God so that my heart once decluttered can enjoy more of God's presence and love in my life.

Our daily lives are so busy that we often forget to declutter ourselves. It is very satisfying to declutter a room. Think how much more satisfying it can be decluttering your life and giving God the space to fill with his love.

Harmer Hill & District W.I.

Harmer Hill and District Women's Institute was established in March 1955. The Institute is also part of the Shropshire and National Federation.

We enjoy a wide range of interesting speakers at our monthly meetings which are held in Harmer Hill Village Hall.

We also get involved in County Events, Open Meetings with other WIs and Group WI activities.

Our WI Institute enters an annual craft, produce and flower arranging competition organised by the Shropshire WI Federation.

We have been successful over a number of years in gaining major trophies in competitions organised by the County Federation.

All ladies are welcome to join us. You don't have to be a member, just pop in and give us a try, you may be pleasantly surprised!!

No commitment needed. We have over 30 members now and new members are always welcome!

Parish Council News

The latest meeting of the Council took place in Harmer Hill Village Hall on Wednesday 4th September when a full range of topics were up for discussion and consideration. Before the full meeting began three members of the public were in attendance seeking information about overhanging hedges causing road safety concerns; progress on the Affordable Housing Project in Godings Lane and the situation regarding footpaths in the recently sold woodland area in Harmer Hill.

Responding to the queries the Chairman suggested that hedges overhanging roads was a problem for Shropshire Council to deal with and should be reported on Fix My Street, which usually gained an effective response. A detailed report on the Affordable Housing project was being considered in the main meeting but it had been confirmed that it would be a Community Project and he had received favourable responses regarding the future of the footpaths when he had met several of the new owners.

At the start of the full meeting Mr. Roger Jones was co-opted onto the Council, replacing Miss Karen Row who had resigned earlier in the year. Roger was the only applicant and had previously been a Member for many years and was then able to join in all the discussions.

The issues discussed included:

The Affordable Housing Project:

The Clerk reported that Shropshire Council had agreed to all the proposals made by the Council and that the development would be a Community Project. This meant that the Council would receive £3,000 for each completed property and the public would be involved in the planning process. The land owner had agreed to the Council having access to the area until the land was sold and efforts would be made to try and discover when this would take place.

Entrance Signs to the Villages:

The location and the erection of the signs had been approved by Shropshire Council and Evans Construction from Oswestry had been invited to provide a quotation for carrying out the project with Councillor Alex Harris acting as the liaison officer meeting with the contractors to confirm the exact location for the signs.

Myddle Church Clock:

Councillor G. Miller reported that together with the Chairman and Councillors G. Harding and J. Bienek, three quotations had been considered and it had been decided to accept the bid of £9,000 from Cumbrian Clocks. Details had been sent to the Diocese for approval which would then be subject to a twenty eight day public consultation.

Harmer Hill Reservoir:

Further concerns had been raised about development on the site contrary to the enforcement order and these had been forwarded to the Enforcement

An Update on the Church Clock

Since the last update on the church clock a couple of years ago there has been substantial progress. The tower has been rewired and three quotations have been obtained for work to overhaul the clock and to fit an automatic winding mechanism. A preferred bidder has been selected and a case submitted to the Diocesan Advisory Committee whose approval is needed before the work can be started. Once approval is granted there will then be a period of public consultation.

Back in the June/July edition we published a piece by Terry Harte on the history of Eagle Farm Close. Here is his follow-up article as promised.

Myddle History 2

When we moved to Myddle, we had to have our solicitor register our house purchase with the Land Registry Office. I had read in a family history magazine that they were transferring all their records onto digital storage. The magazine bemoaned the fact that all the paper records would be destroyed. Consequently, I asked our solicitor to question whether it would be possible for me to have any documents relating to Eagle Farm Close if they were going to be destroyed. I was later contacted by a very pleasant man from the Office, who arranged to send on the relevant documents, and they proved to be very interesting.

The oldest document dated 1925 was the sale of 22 perches of land, at present in the occupation of Mr J. Cooke proprietor the Red Lion Myddle. This had come about because of the death of Adelbert Wellington Brownlow Cust 3rd Earl Brownlow Viscount Alford. He having no male heir bequeathed his Ellesmere Estate and other property to his second Cousin Adelbert Salusbury Cockayne-Cust who became Baron Brownlow. The title of Earl and Viscount both lapsed. Specified in his will, the land at Myddle was to be sold to pay his funeral expenses. The land was bought by a Mr. George Bellingham of 4 St Johns Hill Ellesmere for the princely sum of £11 4shillings, and subsequently sold to the Wem Brewery head office Noble Street Wem.

This 5th Baron Brownlow was succeeded by his son Peregrine Francis Adelbert Cust who became 6th Baron Brownlow. This Baron Brownlow as specified in his father's will gave the land or property for a village school in 1933. There were very specific instructions that it was for the ordinary people of Myddle and involved the Church of England. The agreement was with the diocese of Lichfield and the trustees of the school who are all named. We sometimes take for granted our state education system, but it was the Church of England which pioneered early education for all. Originally, Sunday School was just that, the only education some children received. I was in the township of Soweto Cape Town South Africa being shown around and the guide explained that under apartheid no individual of original African descent was allowed an education. So, I asked him, as he was obviously educated, how had he managed to access his. He told me that a Methodist Mission had provided it. It is good to know those ideals remain with us.

This 6th Baron Brownlow, or "Perry" to his friends, was involved in a crisis for the monarchy. In the 1930's he was a close friend and equerry to the Prince of Wales, Edward Duke of Windsor the future King Edward VIII. Later he became Lord-in-Waiting to him. At the time of the abdication, Edward was determined to marry Wallis Simpson, Edward asked him to escort her to Paris to avoid the fallout from the proposed abdication. He felt loyalty to his friend, but with severe misgivings. He took her to Paris and apparently, tried to get her to give up Edward, but she refused. After the abdication he endeavoured to distance himself from the pair and did not attend their wedding. She never forgave him for the lack of loyalty to them, a trusted friend.

When the new king George VI was installed, he found his name had been omitted from the court circular. He queried this, to then be told his resignation had been accepted, although of course no resignation had been tendered. Effectively he was banned from court. So, an individual with close ties to Myddle whose father was born at Ellesmere, was at the centre of national events and a major actor at the time. The question now is how Myddle become part of such large estates as in this case, the Barons Brownlow primary residence Belton House and estate in Grantham Lincolnshire?

Have you ever heard of “The Washability Bureau”? Neither had we, but this piece from Jad Bienek deserves publication!

Myddle School during the Second World War years still found time to educate its girls in practical matters. An entry in the School Log Book for 8 April 1941 records that “A representative of Messrs Lever Bros. Washability Bureau visited school this morning and gave a lecture-demonstration to Class I girls.” The girls would have been aged 13 or 14. At that time the school was hosting evacuated children from Wallasey; out of a total of 38 (boys and girls) in Class I, 17 were Wallasey children.

How the Head managed to get the visit is a mystery. Perhaps the rep was in the area visiting a local draper or Women’s Institute. The 1920’s and 30’s saw the development of new textiles such as rayon and manufacturers and retailers needed guidance on how these novel products should be cared for. The Washability Bureau was established at the Lever Brothers factory at Port Sunlight in 1929 (though it moved to London in 1948) to answer these questions and issue “Washability” certificates. Experts travelled to stores to train shop assistants so that they could answers customer’s queries and they also put on demonstrations for Women’s Institutes and similar bodies. Girls, assured that “Lux” would take care of these novel and desirable fabrics, might be new customers.

Jess's Ramblings

It seems it is all change up at the woodland by the lay-by on the Higher Road. The Seesaw Estate has sold the land. I assume that must be the seesaw in the recreation ground, but why a seesaw would want to own a piece of woodland I don't know. Perhaps the seesaw thought it was a bit pointless too and decided to sell. Anyway, six humans have each bought a parcel of land there. There are some public footpaths that run across the land and they must be kept open. The Shropshire Outdoor Recreation Map, which you can find using Google, shows where the public footpaths are. There are also some permissive paths which the Seesaw Estate said we could use but the new owners are not obliged to allow their continued use. I noticed that one of these permissive paths had been closed to allow woodland maintenance and tree work but the others remain open. If we would like to see these footpaths remain open (and what dog wouldn't) then we need to treat the woodland with proper respect. Comply with any signs restricting or changing routes, make sure your human picks up after you have done what invariably needs to be done on a walk, try to resist the temptation to chase squirrels into the undergrowth and keep barking to the absolute minimum.

Harmer Hill Village Show

This year's Show on Saturday 7th September was once again held in the Village Hall. Entries in the horticulture classes were a little lower than last year, probably due to difficult seasonal conditions, but there were a very high number of exhibits in the other sections such as Cookery, Craft, Photography and the Children's classes. Thank you to all the exhibitors who provided a great display for the many visitors in the afternoon, plus a cream tea once again provided by the ladies of Harmer Hill and District WI.
